"Christmas is coming,
 The paint tube's getting flat.
 You can get all of your gifts here and that will be that!"

It's just a few days before Thanksgiving and I am in the holiday spirit! Being a type A, off-the-chart planner, the lesson from my grandmother to ship out all gifts before Thanksgiving is shining like a neon light in my calendar. I'm behind this year, but I usually make it!

Consider giving the gift of art this holiday season. Giving art is a thoughtful and creative idea: not only will it continue to increase in value, it's a lasting legacy that can be passed down to future generations. I have created a hassle-free, online gift certificate through PayPal. Just click on Gift Certificate and print! The Gift Certificate doesn't expire and may be used for a Commission or any signed and numbered Limited Edition Giclée. Just go to terriemyers.com and click on Purchase for more information and pricing.

My special offer to you this holiday season is 15% off any Limited Edition Giclée with FREE SHIPPING (domestic only) throughout the holidays. The last date to ship is December 19 to insure that your gift will arrive by December 25. Just Contact me to learn more about this fabulous offer.

By the way, the exhibition scheduled for November in Minneapolis has been rescheduled and expanded to a larger gallery space. It's a solo exhibition and is now scheduled for April 2010. Watch for details in the next edition of Brushstrokes.

My personal expression this time of year is Merry Christmas! To everyone, have a safe, joy-filled, holiday season and a New Year that begins with an attitude of gratefulness.
